

Steady Rise In Sewer Construction Costs Stressed At Meeting

THE East Stroudsburg sewer project could have been constructed in 1951 for 25 percent less than its cost today, those attending the public meeting sponsored by the League of Women Voters were told last night.

The meeting, held at the J. M. Hill Junior High School, heard Russell Kluck, of the state Dept. of Engineers, say that if the sewer had been constructed when the Municipal Authority was created, the cost would have been much cheaper than that passed by the Borough Council Tuesday night.

Kluck was one of four speakers at last night's meeting which, considering the interest the sewer question has engendered in the community, was poorly attended. There were only about 50 persons at the meeting.

Marcia Clapp DeRocco, president of the League of Women Voters, conducted the meeting. She introduced the four speakers, and also read the questions submitted at the end of the talks.

The first speaker was Dr. Frederick Jones, chairman of the authority, who traced the history of the unit from its inception June 5, 1951, until the present.

Dr. Jones said had the sewer been built in 1951, the estimated cost then would have been about $650,000.

If past inflationary trends continue, he indicated, the cost of building a sewer system will be higher in the years to come than they are at present.

The next speaker was George Livingstone, of the state Board of Sanitation, who said the body became interested in the sewer project when plans for the new junior-senior high school were submitted. At that time, he said, it was shown that a cesspool type disposal plant, with a tile field, had been asked for originally. This had been turned down as a permanent measure, he said, and was approved for temporary use.

A disposal plant, estimated to cost between $40,000 and $60,000 was then ordered put into the plans, he said.

However, it was pointed out at that time that if the borough should construct a disposal plant, the temporary cesspool-tile field plan would be allowed to be constructed until such time as the borough system was in operation.

Speaking later, Carl T. Secor, supervising principal of the schools, said the tile field and the running of a line to Elizabeth St. to hook on later to the sewer, cost the district $11,800, far below the estimated $40-60,000.

Livingstone then said that about 30 percent of the borough is presently not developed. If a home is built on any of these grounds, he said, pending legislation may make it impossible for the construction of a sewer system within the boundary of the lot. The proposed laws, he said, would require drainage areas far in excess of what the average lot could accommodate.

Livingstone said the public health hazard in East Stroudsburg is a situation going back over many years.

Closing, he said he hoped the people of the borough would realize that the system is to everyone's benefit within the community.

Kluck, the final speaker, reported on the efforts of the borough council, in 1949, to begin work on a sewer system.

Kluck said that in the seven-county region of Northeastern Pennsylvania in which he works, East Stroudsburg is one of only two or three boroughs of its size not having a sewer system.

The function of the East Stroudsburg Sewer Co., he pointed out, has been illegal since 1946 when an injunction was placed on the firm by the Commonwealth. But, he said, the effective date of the injunction was postponed since the borough, at that time, had shown it was willing to construct a sewer system.

During the question and answer period that followed, certain of the larger problems confronting the property owners were discussed.

When asked what part of the cost the state would assume, Kluck said that certain of the engineering costs and an extremely small portion of the cost of building the disposal plant would be paid for by the state.

It was also explained that the $150 connection fee would be paid as soon as application for the connection was made by the property owner. The front foot assessment would be paid either immediately, or over a period of five years.

The rental figure, it was reported, was arrived at by adding the total linear feet of the lines, multiplying this by the front-foot assessment, adding up the total connections and multiplying this by the $150 figure. These two totals were then subtracted from the total cost of the system and the difference was the figure divided among the users over the 40-year span and used as the rental amount.

Jet Carries Eisenhower On Good Will Mission

Union Asks Panel For Solution

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said Thursday night America's economy requires prompt settlement of the steel labor dispute.

The Steelworkers Union immediately thereafter proposed that Eisenhower's steel inquiry board recommend a settlement solution—a procedure officials maintained is probably illegal under the Taft-Hartley Act. The steel industry said the union was trying to "have a settlement decreed by government action."

Eisenhower renewed his demand for a quick end of the steel labor squabble in a radio-TV address to the nation before leaving on his good-will tour abroad.

Pledge To Negotiate
David J. McDonald, Steelworkers president, told a news conference that the union pledged to negotiate a settlement within the framework of any settlement recommendations the panel might make.

The steel industry, through R. Conrad Cooper of U.S. Steel Corp., chief industry negotiator, said the dispute is in the hands of the Federal Mediation Service.

The fly in the ointment on McDonald's proposal, outside of industry unwillingness to accept it, is that Taft-Hartley law boards are apparently prohibited from making such recommendations. However, it is not entirely clear whether the ban in the law continues throughout the life of such panels.

If Industry Willing
McDonald, asked about the legal basis for his proposal, said any rate the board probably could make recommendations if the industry agreed with the procedure.

One high official noted that the Federal Mediation Service, currently holding separate peace sessions with the union and industry negotiators, is specifically empowered under the T-H law to make recommendations. Director Joseph F. Finnegan said Thursday night he has no present intention of making any recommendations.

Addressing the American people before his departure on an 11-nation trip, the President said the success of his peace efforts requires a strong economy at home.

Questions will be asked about this country's economic strength, Eisenhower said, and added: "What great news it would be if, during the course of this journey, I should receive word of a settlement of this steel controversy that is fair to the workers, fair to management and fair to the American people."

The President said he had sent the round-the-clock instructions to mediation Director Joseph F. Finnegan, adding that "America needs a settlement. It is needed now."

Shortly after Eisenhower's speech was made public, Finnegan said he had no plans to change the schedule for Friday's meetings—separate sessions with the industry at 11 a.m. and the union at 2 p.m.

As he has in news conferences earlier, the President voiced a warning to unions and businessmen that the public will not permit labor-management disputes to wreck the economy.

"America will not — indeed it cannot — tolerate for long the crippling of the entire economy as a result of labor-management disputes in any one industry or any group of industries," he said.

THE MORTGAGE against Laurel Manor, the county's home for senior citizens, was reduced to $4,000 yesterday when three organizations turned over checks totaling $3,000 to the Monroe County Home Assn.

The contributions raised to $27,201.75 the amount of campaign funds received since the capital funds appeal opened Aug. 15. Pledges payable total $6,975, it was announced by Mrs. Frank LaBar and Spencer, co-chairmen of the recent drive.

These amounts, when added to $30,369.75 in contributions made prior to the campaign and $133.25 representing a receipted invoice, raise the overall total of cash donations and pledges to $66,679.75, the chairman reported.

The checks received yesterday included one for $1,000 from the Business and Professional Women's Club, making a total of $3,000 the club has donated since it originated the Laurel Home idea several years ago.

The Stroudsburg Lions Club also contributed $1,000 yesterday, as did the Pocono Community Chorus. The checks were accepted by E. H. Wyckoff, president of the home association.

The campaign chairman said the three gifts helped to put the drive over the amount needed to qualify for a $5,000 grant from the Kresge Foundation. The grant is included in the figure of $27,201.75 announced for the campaign.

A breakdown of contributions received during 1959 was furnished by the co-chairmen as follows: 169 gave amounts under $50; 46 gave between $50 and $100; 65, between $100 and $500; 16, between $500 and $1,000; three, between $1,000 and $5,000; one, over $5,000, and one, over $10,000. Of the 314 contributors, 35 gave twice in 1959.

Multi-Coin Machines To Be Seized

HARRISBURG (AP) — Pennsylvania state police got orders Thursday to seize any multicoin pinball machines still in operation.

"I have issued a directive to field forces to take over any machines still being used," said Col. Frank G. McCartney, state police commissioner, adding:

"Those which have been placed in storage will not be touched for the time being."

Atty. Gen. Anne X. Alpern has given owners of the machines until Jan. 1 to dispose of them. However, they may not be operated in the meantime.

The State Supreme Court ruled Nov. 24 that the multicoin machines are gambling devices and illegal.

State Police of the Stroudsburg barracks said last night they are checking possible locations of multicoin machines, but had seized none to date.

Marrs Appears Nonchalant As Murder Count Is Read

PHILADELPHIA, N. J. (AP) — Stanley Marrs, 32, a physical culture faddist, has been charged with murder in the bludgeoning of Blainstown merchant Lester Silverman, 50.

Detective Joseph Skelly of the N.J. state police said Marrs appeared nonchalant and leafed idly through a magazine as the charge was read to him in Warren County Hospital Thursday.

Marrs is in serious condition from wounds received in a gun duel with a state trooper who tried to apprehend him.

The trooper, Lester Pagano, is in fair condition in Newton Memorial Hospital. He is paralyzed with a bullet in the spine. Marrs is partially paralyzed.

First Degree
Warren County Prosecutor Charles F. Pauls said he would press for a first degree murder conviction. He said Marrs still refused to talk about the clubbing of Silverman in his Main Street department store.

Pauls said legal proceedings against Marrs would begin as soon as Marrs can leave the hospital. Marrs was convicted of atrocious assault and battery in 1955 and probationed last year.

Silverman's battered body was found Nov. 25 in the basement of his store. Pagano went to pick up Marrs at the Johnsonburg Inn, five miles away. A gun fight erupted outside the inn and both men were wounded.

Ships Collide In Fog

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — An oil tanker rammed a freighter in the Delaware River Thursday in heavy fog that covered the Philadelphia region. A tugboat also collided with a gravel-laden barge in the Delaware.

Expresses U. S. Aim For World Peace

GOOSE BAY, Labrador (AP) — President Eisenhower took off for Rome Thursday night after a 53-minute refueling stop at this Canadian wilderness air base.

The flight to Rome was expected to take 6 hours and 20 minutes, with the landing there scheduled at noon Rome time (6 a.m. EST).

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower flew away Thursday night on a momentous, unprecedented journey to carry to three continents a message that America's great desire is for a disarmed world living in peace and friendship and freedom.

With an affectionate farewell from Mrs. Eisenhower, the chief executive boarded a sleek jet airliner that roared off into the starry darkness toward Europe.

It was less than an hour after Eisenhower had gone on radio and television from the White House with a farewell speech, to tell the American people and peoples everywhere the purpose of his 22,000-mile trip to 11 countries.

Deep Desire
"In every country," he said, "I hope to make widely known America's deepest desire—a world in which all nations may prosper in freedom, justice, and peace, unmolested and unafraid."

In the spirit of the Christmas season, it was what the President termed a "mission of peace and good will."

Dignitaries of government and the top diplomats of nations he will visit on a three-week journey halfway around the world were at Andrews Air Force Base to bid the President Godspeed.

Mrs. Eisenhower rode with him from the White House. She boarded his plane momentarily while he swung along the line of well-wishers to chat and laugh and say farewell to those who came to see him off.

Eisenhower looked and talked as if he were in high good spirits. Kisses First Lady Arm and arm, the President and First Lady strolled down the ramp. Eisenhower kissed her square on the mouth and turned to go back up the stairway. Their words were lost in the hiss of jet engines.

Mrs. Eisenhower, who does not like to fly, is not accompanying her husband on this trip.

Andrews AFB reported Eisenhower would have clear skies all the way on the first leg of his journey to Goose Bay, Labrador, refueling stop. And the weather was described as good all the rest of the way to Rome, his first point of call, where he arrives Friday noon.

The chief executive was accompanied by 21 aides and assistants as he set out to proclaim across three continents America's "deepest desire" for a world that will dis rim in peace and freedom.

The first requirement for reducing the tensions now dividing the world, Eisenhower said, is a start on mutual disarmament between the western powers and the Soviet Union.

But until that is achieved, he declared in the nationwide radio-TV broadcast, the United States must maintain, in quality and power, an adequate military strength.

"Without this military strength," he said, "our efforts to provide a shield for freedom and to preserve and strengthen peace would be futile."

Huge Dam Breaks; 350 Lost

FREJUS, France (AP)—The roaring mass of water that broke a dam Wednesday night and ripped through the Reyran Valley on the French Riviera had claimed 198 lives by official count Thursday night.

Authorities estimated another 160 persons are missing.

There was a possibility of duplication in the list of 160 missing, but it was feared many had been swept into the Mediterranean.

Rescue workers halted their search as darkness covered the silt and debris left in the four-mile-long valley. The hunt was to be resumed at dawn.

Some Americans
Most inhabitants of the once-pretty valley in the midst of the Riviera vacationland were farmers and fishermen. A few retired British and Americans lived here.

Tragedy struck around 9 p.m. Wednesday after five days of heavy rain and storm.

The watchman at the 185-foot Malpaset Dam, four miles above Frejus, said he heard a "terrific cracking" and millions of tons of water "broke loose at one blow, carrying everything with it."

A farmer who had four minutes warning and escaped to a hill estimated the water was going about 50 miles an hour. He said a man and his mother who got into their car and tried to drive ahead of it were caught by the flood.

Houses Explode
"The noise was infernal. I could see houses literally explode," he said. "An electrical short circuit flashed strange lights over the valley. I could hear trees being torn out by their roots. They tried to dam nature but nature took its revenge."

Rescue workers found a tangle of mud-aked debris, upended trees, demolished houses, overturned cars and trains. Bridges, roads, phone and power lines had disappeared.

The valley, 16 miles southwest of Cannes, was declared a disaster area by the French government.

The concrete and steel dam was the world's thinnest—only 22 feet thick—when it was built in 1952-53 for irrigation. Since then other thin dams have been constructed.

10 Billion Gallons
When nearly 10 billion gallons piled up behind the dam and strange thumpings were heard, it was decided to open the flood gates to ease the pressure. But the action came too late.

The mayor of Var, who reached the dam site by helicopter, said the dam was "completely washed away. Nothing remains. It had been normally built, and inspected only a few months ago to find out if it could withstand the explosions which were going on at nearby construction work."

The entire area is without electricity, water, gas and telephone. Sections of railroad washed out disrupted communications for a large section of southern France. It may take a week to restore the lines.

FCC Demands Payola Oaths
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission demanded Thursday that the nation's 5,236 radio and TV stations report under oath whether they or their employees have accepted secret payments to plug programs or products.

The FCC crackdown on payola practices came as another agency — the Federal Trade Commission — sent investigators to find out whether some music firms were breaking the law by paying off disc jockeys to push their recordings.

The purpose of the FCC order is to track down "sneaky commercials," as officials put it.

Mickey Cohen Jailed On Murder Suspicion

SHERMAN OAKS, Calif. (AP) — Mickey Cohen, six feet away when an underworld tough guy was rubbed out in a restaurant Wednesday night, was jailed Thursday on suspicion of murder. Similarly booked were two other men and an 18-year-old girl — Cohen's dinner companions.

Jack Whalen, 41, hoodlum with a reputation as an "enforcer" or collector of gambling debts, was shot dead in a crowded cafe patronized by former big-time gambler Cohen and his friends.

Whalen was said by some witnesses to be beating up a man he claimed owed him money.

Dancer Booked
Among those booked was Miss Claretta Sandy Hashagen, a dancer-model who said she was Cohen's date Wednesday night.

Sherman Oaks is a suburb inside the Los Angeles city limits.

His arrest was old stuff to Cohen. He is questioned every time there's an underworld crime in Southern California. He denied the killing and said he doesn't know who did it.

Other jailed with Cohen and Miss Hashagen were George Bart Piscitelle, alias George Perry, 28, of Beverly Hills, Calif., and Tony Reno, 25, a singer also known as Anthony Amoreno.

DeCarlo Sought
Still sought were Joe de Carlo, manager of stripper Candy Barr; one of Cohen's ex-girl friends, and Sam Frank le Cigno, longtime Cohen associate.

Police admitted they lacked evidence for a formal murder complaint against the short, dapper Cohen or the others. The bookings permit officers to hold them for 48 hours for questioning, barring legal moves to free them.

Plane Parts Removed In Crash Probe
WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP)—Investigators of the Allegheny Airlines crash are using special equipment to remove parts of the wrecked plane from the side of Bald Eagle Mountain.

A powerful, specially-equipped helicopter was brought in Thursday to help remove engines and other parts of the plane scattered on the steep, rocky hillside.

Federal, state and Allegheny probes are seeking clues to the cause of the crash which claimed 25 lives Monday.

The two-engine plane slammed against the 1,400-foot high mountain while circling the nearby Mountoursville Airport.

10 Witnesses
The Civil Aeronautics Board, heading the investigation, heard 10 more witnesses Thursday. Details were not disclosed.

George Van Epps, CAB examiner, said autopsies would be made on the bodies of the pilot and co-pilot to determine their physical condition at the time of the crash.

Various teams are testing the wrecked plane's instruments, propellers and air frame.

Edward Slattery, CAB public relations officer, declined to release details pending a public hearing in two to four weeks, probably in Williamsport.

Meanwhile, the lone survivor, Louis Matarozzo, 35, of Springfield, Pa., spent a "comfortable day" in Divine Providence Hospital, although he is listed in serious condition.

Sunday Law Prosecution Stay Asked

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The U.S. District Court was asked Thursday to hold up prosecution under the new state blue law in Lehigh County pending reargument on its constitutionality.

Earlier this week a special panel of three federal judges upheld the constitutionality of the blue code as revised this year. It did not, however, pass upon the validity of the 1939 law, which in turn states its origin in even stricter statutes going back to the 18th century.

Harold E. Kohn, lawyer for Two Guys from Harrison, Inc., of Allentown, asked the district court Wednesday to restrain Paul McGinley, district attorney of Lehigh County, and other enforcement of officers from acting under the law.

A petition was filed after a two-hour closed meeting of the special court judges.

Kohn argued that the case should be returned to U.S. District Judge George A. Welsh to decide whether McGinley has discriminated against Two Guys. Kohn said this should be done since the special court decided that no federal question was involved.

Marrs Charged With Murder Of Blairstown Store Man

PHILLIPSBURG, N. J. — A murder complaint was read to Stanley Marrs, 32, Johnsonburg, in Warren Hospital yesterday. Marrs calmly thumbed a magazine as a detective read the charge.

Marrs is charged with the murder of Lester Silverman, Blairstown department store owner, on Nov. 26. Silverman, 50, died minutes after he was found beaten in the basement of his store.

Marrs is in serious condition, partially paralyzed from a bullet wound suffered in a gun fight when he tried to escape from a state trooper two hours after Silverman died.

The trooper, Lester Pagano, 29, of the Blairstown barracks, was reported in fair condition yesterday at Newton Memorial Hospital. He is paralyzed from a bullet wound of the spine, received in his battle with Marrs.

Detective Joseph Skelly of New Jersey State Police read the murder charge. He signed the complaint Wednesday night before Warren County Judge Saul N. Schechter at Belvidere.

Warren County Prosecutor Charles F. Pauls, Jr., said he will press for a conviction of first degree murder.

Parachutist Plans School In Monroe

A 25-YEAR-OLD former paratrooper is planning to form a parachute jumping school in Monroe County.

Eddie Grandis of Mountainhome plans to open his school at the Hamblin Flying Service, East Stroudsburg, RD 2.

Grandis served eight years as a paratrooper, two of them in Korea. He was a sergeant instructor with the 77th Special Forces at Fort Bragg, N. C.

Grandis is licensed by the federal government to teach jumping. He is employed as an engineer by J. A. Reinhardt and Co., Mountainhome.

He feels there is a need for qualified parachutists. He points out that Russia has 3,000,000 trained parachutists in its Army and Air Force, compared to 2,500 qualified parachutists in the U.S. Army and Air Force.

2,000 Minimum

Jumping will be at minimum altitudes of 2,000 feet, considered the lowest safe altitude for jumping.

Discounting the danger of jumping, Grandis points out that during one year at Fort Bragg, there were 2,500 jumps with only three broken ankles as injuries.

During his service career, Grandis was a member of the Sport Parachute Club, an organization of 300 parachute enthusiasts.

Nixon Lauds Mrs. Batory GOP Win

VICE PRESIDENT Richard M. Nixon has written a congratulatory letter to Mrs. Jeanette Batory, who was elected Monroe County register and recorder in the November election.

The vice president wrote:

20 Cases Set Monday As Court Opens

TWENTY cases are scheduled to be heard Monday at the December term of Monroe County Court opens.

Among them are Michael LeRoy Bond and Ernest Keller Williams, charged with malicious mischief; Theodore R. Binkley, Jr., failure to stop at the scene of an accident; Charles Richard Brink, burglary; Milton Gluck, obtaining money by false pretense and issuing worthless checks; John Speranza, violation of weight laws; Lorenz Timlin, appeal from summary conviction for speeding; and Thomas Bell, appeal from summary conviction for traffic law violation.

Non-support actions will be heard against E. E. Weber, William Saylor, Wilbur T. Heckman, Philip E. Stucker, Earl E. Mosier, Herbert Singer, Jr., Donald Gordon and Burt Sylvester.

Stated for review are non-support actions against Homer E. Osborne, Jr., Joseph Weinstein, also known as Donald Williams, Michael Kochis and Alvin Possinger.

Bartholemey is convicted of first degree murder in the shooting of his wife, Hazel, during a berserk invasion of her home after he was served with divorce papers.

The jury recommended mercy for the 55-year-old former Nichols, N.Y. singing waiter. That makes it mandatory for Judge Pat Cannon to pronounce a life sentence instead of sending Bartholemey to the electric chair.

Bartholemey, who pleaded innocent by reason of insanity, sat motionless as the verdict was read. He had testified that the 38-year-old victim "put me out for a younger man" and angered him by filing for divorce.

After putting two bullets into his wife's head July 1, Bartholemey fired one slug into his own. It cut an optic nerve, destroying the sight of one eye.

Settlement In Fish Kill

HARRISBURG (AP) — William Voigt Jr., executive director of the State Fish Commission, said Thursday a $5,000 settlement has been reached for an extensive fish kill near Harrisburg in November.

Voigt said state sanitary engineers identified the killing agent as cyanide and traced it to an outlet of the Bethlehem Steel Co.

He said the killing agent was identified from water samples taken from the Susquehanna River after the kill.

An estimated 15,000 fish were killed.

Boy Scouts To Observe 50th Year

BANGOR — A Cavalcade of Scouting will highlight this area's observance of the Golden Jubilee Year of the Boy Scouts of America.

The affair is planned for May 12 and 14, 1969 in the Blue Valley Farm Show buildings on the Bangor-Pen Argyl highway.

Theme of the exposition will be "Tomorrow's America." The purpose of the show is to portray to the public the full scope of the Scouting program and its purpose of character building and citizenship training.

Each Scout will have the opportunity to earn a special "30th Anniversary Achievement Award" which he will merit by completing specific requirements. The requirements are designed to fit the Cub Scout, Boy Scout and Explorer program areas and are intended to be a part of the normal experiences within the program of his unit.

Each scout will also be given the opportunity to participate in the building of a National Shrine to be constructed in Washington, D. C., commemorating the eight million volunteer leaders who have served Scouting since the program began in 1910.

The result of the show will be stronger Scout units, giving a better program to more boys and producing better men of character, Scout officials said.

Political 'Fire' Enters Trial

NEW YORK (AP) — Political sparks flew at the Anapolachian conspiracy trial Thursday when Robert F. Kennedy, former Senate committee counsel, appeared as a government witness.

Accused by a defense lawyer of showing up to promote the presidential aspirations of his brother, Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), the witness shot back a sharp denial.

Defense Attorney Henry G. Singer started the exchange by remarking that he was a Democrat and Kennedy was a Democrat, at which point U. S. Dist. Judge Irving R. Kaufman admonished:

"I didn't think politics would rear its ugly head in this courtroom."

Sharing Our Bounties

Sharing at Christmas with those less fortunate brings a deeper meaning to our own Christmas.

But it is not easy to know how to reach the lonely, the shut-in, the despairing mother, the neglected child, the family beset with problems, the prisoner, the unwed mother... all those for whom Christmas maybe a day of utter loneliness and sorrow.

Through their year-round work in the dark areas of poverty and despair, men and women of the Salvation Army know how to bring Christmas to those who would otherwise be forgotten.

When you contribute to the Salvation Army you help provide a steaming Christmas dinner for the homeless and hungry; toys to brighten the eyes of children; Christmas remembrances for the imprisoned; a cheery message and a holiday treat for the aged and sick.

As you share your bountiful Christmas through support of the Salvation Army Christmas Fund, you truly know that "It is more blessed to give than to receive."

Rate Of Growth

Just as a decade ago, Americans believed that we possessed a quality referred to blatantly as "know-how" which other nations did not possess.

Today we grow pessimistic over a phrase "rate of growth." The power of phrases to confuse men's minds is very potent indeed. It is almost paralytic. It makes some of us despondent because we assume that we are no longer as good as we used to be.

When we believed that we possessed the extraordinary quality, know-how, which others did possess, we were suffering from an inexcusable egotism.

Actually, there is no monopoly of brains. Intelligence is individual not collective. There is no American intelligence or British intelligence or Russian intelligence.

There was the intelligence of Thomas Edison, of Albert Einstein, of Guglielmo Marconi, of Dmitri Mendeleev, of Sigmund Freud, of Ludwig van Beethoven. And so one goes through names, lists of names in every category of intellectual activity. The names represent persons, not committees; men or women, not nations.

The most that can be said about any nation is that within its geographic confines, conditions obtained which made it possible for genius to expose itself and blossom.

In the United States, since the Civil War, mechanical inventiveness and mass production developed more rapidly than in many other countries but not more rapidly than in Germany or Japan.

During much of that period, Russia remained a primitive agricultural country with a small but negligible volume of industrial productivity. Indeed, the greatest degree of Russian productivity in those remote days was in Russian Poland and the Ukraine.

Warsaw, Lodz, Bialystok, Kiev, Odessa were cities of small manufactures. There were others. The largest iron works was in Petrograd but there was no modern steel plant anywhere. On the other hand, small Czechoslovakia possessed one of the greatest steel units in Europe, the Skoda Works.

It is therefore true that the Soviet rate of growth since 1917 has been swifter than ours. If they did anything at all, percentage-wise, it could be a thousand per cent improvement.

When the base is zero, every move upward is rapid growth. For instance, we can, if there are no strikes, produce about 140,000 tons of steel a year. The probability is that we do not need to produce much more than that for our own use, no matter how prosperous we may be.

In fact, other metals are being used as substitutes for steel, for instance, aluminum. This represents no loss in the national economy or in the quality of the goods produced. Soviet Russia now produces about 60,000,000 tons of steel.

But Russia's development from a primitive economy to a 20th century industrial base for 200,000,000 people requires more steel than that. Therefore Russia, to be a modern nation, must have a more rapid growth than we have.

A baby grows more rapidly than a man does. A new industrial system must grow faster than a well-established one. The rate of growth is a fallacious figure. If one wants to note the swiftest rate of growth among nations, he should look at Japan from 1868 to 1914 — that is from the Meiji Revolution to World War I.

When Commodore Perry opened Japan to world trade in 1853, Japan had a primitive island economy, based on household production. By 1914, Japan was one of the five principal powers on Earth based on an economy second only to Great Britain and third in all the world.

The rate of growth in Japan exceeded that of Great Britain where the Industrial Revolution and modern capitalism got their start.

Unfortunately, to maintain its position, Japan had to conquer China. This involved Japan on the wrong side disastrously during World War II.

As it is, the gross national product of the United States is about twice that of Soviet Russia. Khrushchev is more modest than those unrealistic Americans who are frightened by the progress of any other nation. Khrushchev says that Russia will pass the United States; he does not claim that this has already happened.

Khrushchev once said of the capitalists: "If there were a God and He could act, He would take a good broom and sweep you out." It was a peasant's campaign argument. Perhaps the best answer is that as there is a God, He knows what to do about his errant children.

What do you think of the record $81 billion peacetime budget?

So long as it's "peacetime," I'm not worried; and one of the reasons it is "peacetime" is that we're spending nearly enough to prevent the enemy from making war. In short, if more money is needed to guard the country, the country should spend it. The defense budget is our life insurance.

How about Mayor Wagner's candidacy for the Vice Presidency?

I wouldn't want to be in City Hall these days, either.

The F.B.I. reports that crime is up 7 1/2 per cent in New York City in 1959. Any comment?

The actual figures mean more. There were 90,701 major crimes committed in this city — nearly one for every hundred of the population. If you told the average New Yorker that the enemy was landing 10,000 troops at Sandy Hook, he would be appalled. But the fact that four full divisions (at least 60,000 criminals) are roaming the streets doesn't faze him a bit.

What should the city do about the slum landlords?

Obviously, sentence them to live for 10 years in the rat traps they own. The landlords should be turned over to the mothers of the children they are freezing, but the Constitution forbids cruel and unusual punishments.

Did you read that the Senate ended payroll secrecy this week?

Yes. Reports are to be published quarterly from now on. What went on before must have been wonderful to behold, because they needed three months to clean it up.

What do you think of the U. S. Government giving birth control information to other nations?

No one has seriously suggested that our Government is forcing them into a birth-control program. Accordingly, the question is not whether we should give the information, but what possible reason we have for withholding it. The information is hardly a deep mystery. For us to treat as an exclusive national secret information that every enlisted man in every major army (including our own) receives as part of his basic training opens us to a charge by unfair enemies that we are guilty of hypocrisy.

Midnight Press Conference

An Iranian diplomat's son slapped his girl friend, fired two blank shots from his pistol and then declared that he acted that he acted as any American boy would. Any comment?

Yes. Then why did he claim diplomatic immunity? If his Embassy thinks he acted as any American boy would, why don't they let the girl find out how any American judge would act when the case came before him? For their information, "any American boy" doesn't carry a revolver, and there are parts of this country where, if the girl had "any American boy" for a brother, the little punk from Iran would be wearing a good old-fashioned American black eye for slapping "any American boy's" sister.

Now the girl's family is on the off mgr's back. Would you say the off mgr. deserves the blame for all this? Or isn't a girl over 21 responsible for her own conduct? The off mgr. intended to arrange only a "date" — not an "affair".

IN THE MIDDLE

Dear In: The "off mgr." is Enemy Number One for leading these two weaklings into temptation. The rest of the blame should be shared equally by the two who couldn't resist it.

Dear Abby: I found out that my fair lady was not all I wanted her to be. So I wrote her a registered letter explaining that I felt our engagement was a mistake. (We ly by the two who couldn't resist it.

Dear Abby: I'd ask you to send me a personal reply, but I'm afraid my mother might see it and punish me for taking problem to somebody else. You see, I'm almost 13 and, Abby, my skin is so bad at times I'm ashamed to go to school. Some of my friends have skin troubles, too. But their mothers take them to doctors and they get creams and special soaps to use. My mother says "Beauty is only skin deep." But that's no help. What can I do?

PIMPLES

Dear Pimples: Beauty is only skin deep, but at 13 that is deep enough. Do stay away from sweets, chocolates and fried foods. If, after a few months, there is no improvement, try again to convince your mother to take you to a doctor.

Opinions Of Other Editors

Closing Tax Loopholes

This is the time of year—as Dec. 31 nears—when business columnists and publications start pouring out advice on how to use legal loopholes to reduce what would be owed Uncle Sam in Federal income taxes.

Example: If you're a businessman and it is at all possible, give your own merchandise to charity instead of cash.

You can deduct the full selling price of the item given, thus getting tax credit, too, for what would have been your profit. In many instances, this would work out so the cost to the taxpayer of the charitable gift of merchandise would be practically nil. Uncle Sam would be the loser.

All this, of course, is strictly legal. And, with tax rates as high as they are, the use of every legal loophole to reduce income tax payments is to be recommended. The Government, in fact, so urges.

But the point is that millions of American taxpayers, practically the bulk of those on wages and salaries, aren't eligible to use many of the legal loopholes.

These loopholes, in fact, give us a tax system today under which people with essentially the same incomes often pay substantially different amounts of tax.

The first stab at trying to reform the inequitable Federal income tax system which has grown up helter-skelter over the past four decades came when the House Ways and Means Committee opened hearings on basic revision of our tax laws.

These hearings and any "close the loophole" moves developing from them merit the full support of millions of average taxpayers.

Pharaoh's Son

King Resisted God's Will
So His Son Paid With Life

"And it came to pass that at midnight the Lord smote all the firstborn in the land of Egypt, from the firstborn of Pharaoh that sat on the throne unto the firstborn of the captive." —Exodus XIII:20

By Patrick and Garrison

AS A YOUNG Prince of Egypt, Pharaoh's son lived a life of luxury and ease. His father's palace was an earthly paradise. There were huge rooms with walls of sculptured stone, richly decorated, with polished floors. And, enclosed by tall, brightly painted columns, were cool gardens and shady pools.

Beyond the high walls was the desert. There were blinding sandstorms, parching heat, and human misery.

But Pharaoh's son knew nothing of this, nor of God's people—the Hebrews—who lived as slaves in mud huts near the Nile River.

Not that he would have cared. Haughty, and impatient with those of lesser rank, he tried to imitate the stern disdain he had seen on his father's face as the King sat on his glittering throne.

With courtly pride, he watched the regal processions that daily went in and out of the palace grounds. The most frequent visitors to the royal household were courtiers in rich dress, seeking favors of Pharaoh.

But the young prince liked guards. As they marched in best of the parades of Egyptian their resplendent uniforms, keeping time to the music of pipes and drums, their standards flashed in the sunlight. Most exciting of all were the war chariots, which came careening into the palace grounds, drawn by snorting big steeds.

Pharaoh's son also enjoyed the great religious feasts. Some of these festivals lasted for weeks. The vast temple courts would be decorated with tamarisk branches, feathery reed grass, and long chains of flowers. The ornate tables would be loaded with cakes and delicious fruits.

But, because the king of Egypt resisted God's will, all this splendor turned to gloom that midnight as the young prince lay lifeless in his bed.

Christmas Tips: Treating Cones To Burn In Color

By George Abraham

EACH YEAR home owners ask me for information on treating evergreen cones with chemicals so they'll produce bright colors when burned. You can treat your own cones by using chemicals purchased from your local druggist.

For colors use barium nitrate (blue); or copper sulfate; strontium nitrate (red) or calcium nitrate; copper chloride (orange) and potassium permanganate (purple).

Dissolve one pound of the chemicals (or fraction) in one gallon of water. Dip a bag of cones into the solution for 15 minutes, allow to dry overnight. Be sure to wear rubber gloves since the chemicals may be irritating.

Incidentally, don't forget to make yourself a table decoration for the holiday season. These don't have to be too fancy and almost any type of evergreen can be used. For a base use some of the florist's styrofoam into which the sprigs can be inserted.

Or you can use a low bowl to hold the evergreen. Brighten the greenery with some colorful berries, a few pine cones (wire to twigs) or you can use a few fresh flowers in among the evergreen foliage. Don't make the table decoration too tall. . . you have to look over them when seated.

Chances are the evergreens in your foundation planting need some pruning so now's a good time to do the job so you can use the clippings in the table decoration. Pine, cedar, fir, juniper, yew, and arborvites are all good.

Pine, especially white and red pine, are good for both indoor and outdoor use because they keep their needles long. Balsam is another good keeper and fragrant. Scotch pine works in nicely. Needles of hemlock and spruce drop soon after being brought indoors, though both are good for outdoor work.

For trimmings you might want to resort to the teasel burrs, milkweed pods, bitter-sweet berries, etc. you gathered a few weeks ago. Don't hesitate to use your own imagination when making centerpieces, table decorations or wreaths.

House plant pests: Now's a fine time to take a look at the soil of your house plants. Tiny, fast moving insects mean an inactive worms about one-half inch long. These feed on the roots, causing dwarfing, yellowing of leaves.

Dust the surface with DDT or chlordane, and water in well. Fungus gnats are slender, legless maggots which hatch from eggs laid in the soil by black flies you often see buzzing around your plants.

Control: Spray plants with DDT to kill the flies. Also dust the soil with DDT or chlordane to kill eggs and maggots. Fungus gnats are not harmful unless present in large numbers.

Question Box

F. J. of STROUDSBURG: "Our Girl Scouts want to make one of those square red candles for each mother. Please tell us how to get the square effect, with the frost on the outside."

Holiday candles are a lot of fun to make. Besides the square types you can make the Santa Claus candle, the star shaped types, tall green ones as well as the Christmas-tree shaped candle. For the square candle the empty paper carton which milk comes in makes an ideal container.

You cut the top off. Tie end of wick around pencil, tucklay of wick around pencil, then lay the pencil across the container top so wick drops down through the center. Then punch a small hole in the container bottom to draw wick through and fix the end to bottom.

Melt ordinary paraffin in a double boiler, stir in red crayons for color. Then you pour wax into the cardboard or paper mold, refrigerate to harden. Later you remove the paper mold by slitting sides with knife.

Some folks string gold beads on cotton thread to decorate top and bottom edges of candle. Or you can attach combinations and patterns of round, pinwheel and snowflake sequins in gold, chartreuse and green. You can attach these to the candle with straight pins.

For that frosty effect you like, you simply pour a small amount of melted wax into a can and whip it to "froth", using a fork or eggbeater. Use a knife to pick up dabs of "froth" and ice the candle completely. Keep the application rough to get that frost effect.

You can trim any kind of candle you make using colored non-inflammable ribbon and cord, beads, baubles or buttons, sequins in numerous shapes, sizes and colors. To make your own wick, soak heavy string or cord overnight in a solution of one tablespoon of salt, two table-spoons of borax, and one cup of water.

Dry, then dip in melted wax to stiffen. Melt your wax in a boiler. NEVER over direct heat as it may burn. For froth, let the wax cool until one-fourth inch film forms on top, then heat the cooled wax with the eggbeater. As a final word, NEVER pour melted wax down a drain. It will stop the drain- age.

M. W. of Wind Gap: "Please tell me what causes the leaves on my geraniums to turn yellow. I use plenty of plant food."

Geraniums need full light indoors, ample moisture and as cool a temperature as possible. Too high a temperature will cause leaves to turn yellow. Try 70 degs., and put the plants in a bright window.

Feed them once every 3 or 4 weeks, and give them plenty of water to keep them growing lustily. As a house plant, the geranium is not the best. It needs constant pinching to keep the plant bushy.

Work Halted At NORAD Site

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—All preliminary work has been halted at the site of a new headquarters for the North American Defense Command.

Defense authorities have urged transfer of the NORAD headquarters from the Ent Air Force Base here to an underground site, blasted into the granite of Cheyenne Mountain, southeast of Pike's Peak.

NORAD is the nerve center of aerial defense for this country and Canada. Congress has approved a 10-million-dollar appropriation for a start on the underground headquarters.

Col. Barney Oldfield, chief of information for NORAD, said, "There has been a stoppage of construction or planned construction on all such planned command and control centers while another look is being taken to insure that the present plans and types of construction are adequate in the face of a determined missile attack."

SEVEN presidents of the United States have died in office.

Just Between Us

—by Bobby Westbrook

One picture I would like to have for my album is of Ernest Wyckoff doing the Coscock dance on the streets of a Russian city.

It seems they heard there was a big concert by the Red Army Band and dancers in town, but their Intourist guides assured them the performance was sold out. Never one to be discouraged unless he had tried himself, Papa Wyckoff sneaked his party away from the guide and set out to find the concert himself.

The only trouble was they didn't know where the performance was and no one in the party spoke Russian. When all other sign language failed, Papa Wyckoff did a few dance steps in the street to the great amusement, not only of his own party, but of all the bystanders.

But it worked. He not only found the theater, but the manager invited them in, put seats in the aisle, and they saw the whole performance in style. It was almost as good a story as the one about the rouble note worth $12.50 which he was forced to accept in return for a shiny dime and penny he had given a Russian as a souvenir.

However, he won't promise to take his Scouts to Russia—not at this season, anyway. Not even sleeping bags in the high Sierras was as cold as hotel rooms in Moscow, I guess.

Speaking of the weather, we've certainly been blessed this week. Not only the deer hunters in the woods, but their women folk who are using their absence to get the Christmas shopping done. A white Christmas may be romantic, but an icy pre-Christmas season just isn't practical.

Traditional Holiday Foods For British Tables Still

London (AP)—In Merrie England roast goose is the traditional Christmas meat, with turkey following a close second in modern times. Whichever bird isn't used at Christmas is served up for New Year's Day. Plum pudding or mince tarts are the accepted desserts—with brandy sauce, of course. Following are the time-honored recipes:

TURKEY—is stuffed at both ends usually with chestnut one end and sausage meat the other or another stuffing one would wish.

Sausage Stuffing
1½ lbs. sausage meat
3 oz. white bread crumbs
1 dessert spoon of mixed herbs
2 onions chopped
3 ozs. chopped bacon
1 beaten egg
Mix all together and pop into bird.

Chestnut Stuffing
¾ lb. chestnuts
3 ozs. bread crumbs
1 large onion
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1½ ozs. butter melted
1 beaten egg
milk or stock
Cook chestnuts in milk, drain and sieve. Mix with rest of ingredients and pop in bird.

These are the most typically English stuffings, though there are many other delicious ones to be used.

Cook the bird either in drippings with ham fat or butter, basting well. With it is served bacon rolls, chippolatas (especially if some other stuffing than sausage meat is used) bread sauce, cranberry sauce and a good gravy made out of the giblets.

Good vegetables to be served are roast or mashed potatoes, sprouts, peas and celery.

Christmas Pudding

¾ lb. flour
¾ lb. bread crumbs
1 lb. currants
1 lb. sultanas
1 lb. stoned raisins
4 ozs. candied peel
2 ozs. shredded almonds
1 grated apple
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 lb. brown sugar
ground nutmeg
ground cinnamon
mixed spice
marmalade
6-8 eggs or more brandy, ale, stout or any liqueurs
Mix all together. Boil 6-8 hours and then keep as long as one likes. Before serving boil for another 3 hours.

Brandy or Rum Butter

The Wyckoff Shopper

the friendly store

Wyckoff

Wanted: a man with the initials H. G. R. Not by me, either . . . but by our Wyckoff Men's Department. If you know such a man and he happens to be on your Christmas gift list, you can really take advantage of a wonderful buy.

Every once in a while a mistake is made in monogramming, usually because the salesperson has misunderstood the letters the customer requests. Just such a thing happened some time ago when a handsome wallet and key case were lettered. After they had been stamped "H. G. R." it developed that it should have been H.S.R., or some such thing, and there we were with a lovely cordovan brown set that no one, to our knowledge could use.

Pete Wyckoff mentioned this the other day, and I said, "Well, let's try to round up someone who is planning a gift for someone with those initials."

Pete grinned skeptically. "Do you suppose anyone really has them?" he mused.

"Who knows?" I parried. "One thing's certain—if there's a man named Harry George Robertson or Homer Gregory Ratoff or Herbert Graham Roosevelt, HE's got 'em."

Pete shrugged. "Okay . . . so advertise for a man, and see what happens." If you come up with something, the customer can have this truly beautiful set for half of the regular 7.95 price. . . . Okay?"

So there you are! Now, what about it? Do YOU know an HGR who needs a wallet and key case of fine quality leather? If you do, and if you don't plan to present him with a gift, why not talk him into buying himself one? In that case, I'm not sure what you and I would get out of it . . . but let's give it a go, should we? (I can just imagine what my severest critics are saying at this time: "We knew all along that someday Maloney'd be advertising for a man.") Oh well . . . who am I to disappoint anyone! But since a wallet (and my integrity) are at stake, may I add that it would be VERY nice indeed if anyone who might apply would have plenty of "dough". (And believe me, I DON'T refer to Christmas pudding.)

Everyone agrees that our Wyckoff Christmas party of this year was just about the finest ever. Mr. and Mrs. Wyckoff once again presided over the big table at which members of our 25 year club were seated . . . Pete Wyckoff led the singing . . . Walter Wyckoff pronounced a beautiful and inspiring invocation . . . and Holt Wyckoff, our president, showed several reels of magnificent colored pictures taken in Russia.

There were well over 300 guests, and I think the staff of Buck Hill Inn deserves a whole sleighful of Christmas gifts from Santa for the wondrously quick and effortless way in which they served one of the finest dinners I have ever eaten. It's always a delight to see all the waitresses, so friendly and spotless, enter the room in a brisk, efficient line, and radiate to all the tables at the same time, so that no one seems to wait, and everyone has his or her food (in company with his fellow diners) while it is piping hot.

Among those much impressed by Buck Hill, the food, the service, and the gentility of our store family, were the Joseph Nazzos, who remain here, through tomorrow, with their fabulous collection of men's, women's and children's rings . . . brilliant zircons, pearls, onyx, and lovely but inexpensive birthstones. Visit them while they remain with us . . . and if you're planning a banquet, DON'T OVERLOOK BUCK HILL. A merry Christmas to the personnel there . . . and to the manager, Mr. Clifford Gillam!

Treasury Discount Bills

By William A. Doyle
Q. When I recently bought some U.S. Treasury discount bills, which will mature in July, 1960, I was informed that I will have a long-term capital gain if I hold these bills to maturity.
If this is so, what about series E U.S. savings bonds which I have been holding for years? Will I have a long-term capital gain when I redeem them?

A. You received some very bad information. You never have a capital gain on either discount bills or series E bonds. You buy them at one price and redeem them at another price—par value.

The difference between the two prices is accumulated interest. William A. Doyle is a tax expert and is available for ordinary investors who want to buy and sell small amounts of U.S. discount bills, notes and bonds.

A. Most investors have that chore handled for them by their commercial bank or brokerage firm.

When the Treasury brings out a new issue of notes or bonds, any investor can subscribe for part of the issue by applying to the Federal Reserve Bank. But there is some red tape involved.

So, it's usually easier to channel your subscription through professionals who know how to go about it. Practically any brokerage firm or bank and many savings institutions will assist a client or depositor to subscribe to a new Treasury offering.

"The American Dairy Assn. is doing a good job for the dairy industry at the national level. This farmer-financed campaign of public relations through advertising in magazines and on television, needs to be supplemented and followed down to the intimate level of consumer contact. This means the home newspaper and air media," pointed out the commissioner.

And, if you want to buy some U.S. Treasury securities that are already outstanding (not a new issue) or want to sell some you own before maturity, your commercial bank or brokerage house will channel the transaction for you.

You should know, however, that if you trade in less than $10,000 par value of government securities you may have to pay a little bit extra when you buy and receive a little bit less when you sell.

What is the difference between U.S. Treasury notes and U.S. Treasury bonds?

A. Treasury notes are issued for terms of from one to five years. Treasury bonds are issued for five years or longer.

The exact date that they mature (the date on which the government is pledged to pay them off at par value) is different with each issue.

Treasury bonds and notes differ from discount bills in that interest is paid on them while they are outstanding.

Cooperative Advertising Is Praised

LANCASTER — "Good advertising is an essential ingredient of good merchandising," said John A. Smith, a member of the Milk Control Commission in an address before the Lancaster County Milk for Health Cooperative last night at Vintage, near here, on the occasion of the first annual meeting of farmers and dealers supporting a cooperative milk advertising program in the Lancaster area.

Smith said a similar program of cooperative advertising was established in Erie three years ago and retail sales jumped seven percent the first year. York has a similar program and both farmers and dealers are well pleased with the results.

"It is impossible for milk to hide in a corner, isolated from a whole string of advertised beverages, and hold its own in the mad race for the consumer's dollar," the commissioner pointed out.

Beggars Alarmed

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Master beggars who seize and maim children and put them out to beg in the streets may get life in prison under a law enacted in Parliament this week.

"The Milk Control Commission must be realistic in recognizing modern trends in merchandising. We should no longer disallow advertising budgets in excess of any arbitrary standard. We must liberalize our thinking on the value of advertising in present day standards. We cannot win battles in 1960 with advertising programs geared to 1935 thinking. Pennsylvania's $600 million annual milk sales program calls for a sizeable advertising budget."

Smith said a similar program of cooperative advertising was established in Erie three years ago and retail sales jumped seven percent the first year. York has a similar program and both farmers and dealers are well pleased with the results.

1959 All-America Elevens

By BOB HOODING
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Billy Cannon, top professional draft choice and 1959 Heisman Trophy winner, Thursday was named for the second straight year to the Associated Press All-America football team.

The Louisiana State halfback is joined by amazing one-eyed quarterback Bob Schloredt, who directed Washington to its first Rose Bowl appearance in 16 years; rugged Mississippi fullback Charley Flowers and Arkansas' Jim Mooty, who wasn't even supposed to play this season.

In front of this talented quartet is a mobile line averaging 213 pounds, led by guard Roger Davis and end Fred Mautino of mighty Syracuse.

McKeever At End
Bill Burrell of Illinois is the other guard while Marlin McKeever of Southern California holds down the other flank. Maxie Baughan of Georgia Tech is the center, with Don Floyd of Texas Christian and Dan Lanphear of Wisconsin at the tackles.

The Associated Press All-America is selected on the basis of the recommendations of 12 regional boards composed of newspapermen and newscasters, and takes into account all games through Nov. 28.

Mautino, McKeever and Schloredt are juniors. The rest are seniors.

Cannon is a 23-year-old, 208-pound father of three who was eagerly grabbed by Los Angeles in the first round of the National football league draft.

He ran for 508 yards, completed two of six passes, returned 23 kicks for 412 yards, intercepted four passes for 145 yards and a touchdown, punted for a 40.3 yard average and scored seven times.

One-Eye QB

The rugged lad from Gresham, Ore., who late after time ran for needed yardage on vital third and fourth down situations, passed for 733 yards and five tds, run for 255, scored 54 points, punted for a 40-yard average and played superbly at defensive halfback. Flowers is a quick starting, twisting type runner who also is topnotch as a blocker and line-backer. In addition, he is master of the quick kick. A pass catcher and 6-point scorer, Flowers gained 733 yards rushing.

Mooty complained of dizzy spells last spring after a fine junior season and was told by a doctor to quit football because of a possible concussion condition. He could not participate in spring drills but Mooty persisted, got a medical okay in late August and became the key man as Arkansas drove to a Southwest Conference title tie.

Mooty carried 93 times for 519 yards, caught four passes, intercepted one, punted for a 31-yard average, hauled back kicks for 171, scored five times and was an outstanding defender.

McKeever was a key to USC's fine rushing defense record a fine punter, he also is an outstanding defender and the top receiver on a club which uses the forward pass sparingly.

Burrell is unusually strong for his 210 pounds. The highlight of a glittering season for him came against Purdue when he was credited with being in on 26 tackles. He was carried off the field on a stretcher with a twisted knee in the third period but after hurried dressing treatment, came back to help break up a fourth period Purdue drive on the Illinois 6.

Led Syracuse
Davis led Syracuse's line as a short side guard in the unbalanced winged-T. No team has run in his direction successfully and he has been used on defense as a tackle and line-backer.

Teammate Mautino snarled 17 passes for 215 yards and two touchdowns. He couldn't be blocked out of plays defensively. Floyd was a steady rock in the tough TCU defense and typical of his attitude, he turned in a five game against Pitt despite having been ill throughout the previous night. Floyd is not flashy but consistent.

Lanphear, who played only 143 minutes a year ago due to an ankle injury, was a vital figure in Wisconsin's trail to the Big Ten title and Rose Bowl. Against Ohio State, he blocked a punt for a safety, recovered two fumbles—one on the three to halt a drive, and tackled so viciously he sent two buckeye players out of the game with injuries.

Baughan rated center honors as the top line-backer of the season with a solid blocking touch added.

Gregory Speaks At Officials Fete

Eiler Takes Over State Post Today

JOHN EILER, a member of the East Stroudsburg Teachers College Faculty, will officially become president of the Pennsylvania Association of Helath Health-Physical Education and Recreation tonight at the Yorktown Hotel, York, Pa.

Eiler, one of the nation's outstanding soccer coaches and ex-

Gregory reviewed the 1959 Warriors season and also told of the requisites he seeks in a football player. "Football is not all brawn. It is brains and desire combined," he informed the officials.

Joe Whalen, secretary-treasurer of the area chapter, was the toastmaster. "The Voice of the Poconos" via WVPO kept the fete lively with several humorous stories.

Whalen introduced Allen Sterner, president of the Northeastern Chapter. Sterner, a long-time official, noted that he has been president of two chapters at the beginning and felt "a warm spot in his heart for being in on the ground floor in the start of both organizations."

Speeches also were made by Mike Lisetski, president of the Eastern Chapter of Football Officials who also officiates in the National Professional Football League. The Northampton president pointed out that an "official should never be satisfied with himself."

Work Hard
"Work hard at your avocation and strive to always better yourself. Don't be satisfied to stay in one class. Always think about moving to the top," Lisetski remarked.

Ralph Burrows, chairman of District 11 of the PIAA, informed the officials that the "PIAA will give you wholehearted consideration in all of your problems. You also have the support of our group," he said. Clarence Roeder of Emmaus, president of the Lehigh Valley Scholastic League, brought down the house when he humorously noted to the officials that there was one thing they could be sure of. "When your down on the field you'll always have one on your side—that's me."

Officials present were Tony Embardino, Bangor; Faust Capobianco, Bangor; Joe Romano, Roseto; Charlie Angelini, Roseto; Joe Basso, Bangor; Whalen, Stroudsburg; Sterner, Shawnee; and Al Capobianco, Bangor.

Bangor Opens Basketball Year Today

BANGOR—Bangor Area Joint High School basketballs will open their 1959-60 season tonight at the Bangor gym when they entertain the forces of Polk Township High. Coach Dale Baker, Bangor mentor, feels this year's five is an unknown quantity, since they have not been battle tried.

Lost from this year's quintet will be Frankie Butz, the highest scorer in the basketball history of the maroon and white. Butz graduated last year and is presently a plebe at the United States Military Academy at West Point.

However, all is not darkness since several returnees of last year's combine are on hand, that may point to a hard defensive five, but what it will do in point getting is a matter that will have to be proved as the season wears on.

Drill 2 Weeks
Practice sessions have been underway for several weeks under the watchful eye of assistant coach Earl Lutz who is also acting as the junior varsity over-seer. However the squad has now been augmented with the addition of several varsity members from the football eleven. Coach Dale Baker who also is an assistant in football has taken over the varsity and Coach Lutz is now concentrating in the junior varsity.

The varsity will sport such old faces as Ron Mack, 6'4" center; Barry Gleim, 6'1" forward; Jim Commins, 6'2" guard and a newcomer in Tom Masteller 6'1" who formerly played at Reading at forward. Duane LaBar, 6'2 1/2 varsity football tackle who played in his sophomore year is out again for the team and is expected to hold down one of the guard posts. Also being counted on are Jim Brown, Donald Buzzard, Ken Smith, a promising shoot; Doug Herd, Jim Rehrg, the high point man for last year's Jaycees; Jack Falcone and Frank Falcone. Coach Baker feels that this combine will give a good account of itself in the weeks ahead.

Player Draft Measure OK'd By Minor Loops At Meeting

By Jack Hand
Associated Press Sports Writer
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—The first-year player draft was readopted by baseball's minor leagues Thursday in an attempt to curb huge bonus payments to untied athletes.

While the minors wound up their convention with the usual legislative session, the majors completed a two-player deal before moving on the Miami Beach where they will meet next week. Pitcher Tom Sturdivant was shipped by Kansas City to Boston for catcher Pete Daley.

Sturdivant, a 29-year-old right-hander, had a 28 record in 43 games last season.

Daley, also, 29, hit .225 in 65 games with the Red Sox. The minors hope they have struck a blow at the big bonus payments to free agents by re-enacting the first year draft. Although no vote was announced it was understood to have been 17-3 with one league abstaining.

"The idea is to save us from ourselves," said Fresno Thompson, a Los Angeles Dodger vice president, who proposed the latest version of the rule. "We are trying to stop ridiculous spending."

Under the modified rule passed Thursday, a player drafted after his first year can be farmed out to the minors. That was not the case under the old rule when waivers were required and the player first had to be reoffered to the team from whom he was drafted.

All minor league players now are subject to draft by the majors or teams in higher classifications at the end of their first year. The only way a player can be protected is by advancing him to the major league roster.

The first-year draft was extended for one year, provided the majors also approve next week. For the first time the minor leagues adopted a minimum salary scale for players, ranging from $300 a month in class AAA to $250 in class D. Furthermore the salary of a player moved to another team could not be cut.

George Trautman was re-elected president of the minor leagues. His contract was extended five years through 1966 after it expires in 1961.

Youth Fails To Threaten Brown Crown

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—"I believe these challengers are going to have to stop calling Joe Brown an old man," Lou Viscusi, manager of the world lightweight champion, said Thursday.

The 34-year-old Brown fought his way into record books Wednesday night with a decisive sixth-round technical knockout over Dave Charnley, who collected the British Empire crown in May at the age of 24.

"Joe was perfection to his last ounce," Viscusi said. "His reflexes and condition were perfect. It was his best title defense."

Viscusi said no decision on a record ninth title defense will be made until after the Christmas holidays. Included is a $100,000 offer to fight Mexico's Battling Torres in Los Angeles in February.

Meanwhile, the boyish-faced Charnley picked up the biggest check of his career—the 20 per cent gross of $14,544. Brown took 40 per cent of $29,088.

Both Charnley and his manager, Arthur Boggis, sat in the Houston Press Club two hours after the fight and viewed a delayed rerun of television film on the unsuccessful challenge.

"I still said Dave was stopped by a butt and not a punch," Boggis said Thursday.

Charnley's right eyebrow still was bulging from an inch and a half gap that caused Referee Jimmie Webb to stop the fight.

Brown and Webb insisted there was no butt. They said the champion used a solid left to the eye and then followed through with a powerful right uppercut just as the bell sounded ending the fifth round.

"CORAL GABLES, Fla. (AP)—Julius Boros combined accuracy with a long, low tee shot on a blustery day to card a 4-under-par 67 Thursday and take a one-stroke lead in the first round of the $25,000 Coral Gables Open Golf Tournament.

The former National Open champion from Mid Pines, N.C., finished late, just as it appeared that four players would share the top spot, each with a 68 over the 6,563-yard Biltmore course.

Arnold Palmer of Ligonier, Pa., one of the favorites, was tied with eight others at 69 and Jay Hebert of Sanford, Fla., another highly regarded linksman, was in the 70 bracket with three others.

Art Wall of Pocono Manor, Pa., leading money winner of the year, shot a big 75, the same as that registered by Fred Hawkins of El Paso, Tex.

PIAA Titles On Gridiron On The Line

By FRED WALTERS
HARRISBURG (AP)—The championships of the WPIAL-AA, East Penn and Philadelphia are the prizes as Pennsylvania's 1959 high school football season finally winds up.

All three contests are on Saturday.

Charleroi and Aliquippa meet at Pitt Stadium for the WPIAL title. Hazleton and West Scranton play at Hazleton for the East Penn crown. Monsignor Bonner and Central play at Franklin Field in Philadelphia for that city's championship.

Here's how they look:

Charleroi-Aliquippa—Each won 10 games without tie or defeat in regular season play. Charleroi all along was considered a title contender and knocked off pre-season favorite Clairton along the way. Aliquippa came along unheralded to win the other playoff berth. It looks like Charleroi should win.

Hazleton-West Scranton—An early season exhibition game in which West trounced Hazleton, 46-0, makes this appear a mismatch. West lost only two, to Altoona and to Kingston Catholic. Hazleton also lost to Altoona. They came along well at the end of the season but seem to be outclassed here.

Central-Monsignor Bonner—Each team lost one game during the season. Central lost to Abington, a so-so suburban team, 21-19, then went on to win eight straight Public League contests. Bonner lost to LaSalle, 20-12, during the season, but avenged that setback, 6-0, in the playoff for the Catholic League title. The choice here is Bonner.

(Last week: 34 right, 10 wrong, 3 ties, .773; season: 329-120-23, .739.)

AFM Elect Officers For 1959-60

BANGOR—Officers were elected by Bangor-Stroudsburg Local 577, American Federation of Musicians, during the meeting at union headquarters here this week.

Carl E. Rice was named president; Fred Sabatino, vice-president; Sammy Canova, secretary-treasurer; and Kenneth Brown, membership secretary.

Elected to the executive board were William Diehl, Joseph P. Falcone, George Humphreys, Ernest Lohman, Nelo Maso and Roger Miller. President Rice and secretary-treasurer Canova were named delegates for the national convention next June, probably at Las Vegas, Nev. Miller is the alternate.

Maso gave the report of the business agent. Sabatino reported for the recording and transcription fund. The following engagements under the latter program were announced for this month:

Dec. 4, Willis Brown, for Bangor Elks; Dec. 17, Quartet for Bangor Lions Club; Dec. 20, Concert Band, for the Methodist Church; Dec. 22, Concert Band, for the First Ward Community Assn.; Dec. 23, Benny Falcone's orchestra, for the Pen Argyl Youth Center.

Letter Of Thanks

A letter of thanks was received from the Pocono Township School District for music provided by Virgil Singer and his orchestra under the recording and transcription program.

Rice requested that all bands and individual musicians who are not engaged New Year's Eve, contact him for working assignments.

The Home Association of the union reorganized by electing Joseph P. Falcone president; Rice, vice-president; Maso, secretary-treasurer; and Brown, Canova, Diehl, Lohman, Miller and Sabatino, executive board members.

Falcone presided. Maso gave the report of his office. It was noted that the office in the union building has been rented by Gordie's Dry Cleaning Service and Western Union.

Lion Turkeys

LONDON, (AP)—About a million turkeys will be available for British Christmas dinner tables this year, a turkey industry spokesman says. The turkeys, about twice as many as were sold last year, also will cost less than previously, he said.

Develop New Rifle

BRESCIA, Italy, (AP)—Italy's Beretta Arms factory has developed a new rifle it hopes NATO will adopt. It is described as an improved version of the American Garand rifle that can shoot up to 20 rounds automatically or semi-automatically.
